

Librarian's Report
Freedom Public Library
December 13, 2018

We were pleased that we had 20 people at Game Night last week and everyone seemed to enjoy themselves. We no longer charge a fixed amount for dinner, asking for donations instead. We used to take a loss but now we more than cover the costs. The next Game Night is set for Tuesday, January 15.

The library will be closed December 25 and 26 and January 1 and 2. Chris is taking vacation December 27-29. I have two days to use by the end of the month or I lose them so I will probably take December 27 & 28 since I will have family visiting. Amanda is on board to work during Chris' vacation so the library should have the necessary coverage.

The Winter Film Series lineup is set and Peg Scully just sent her movie descriptions. So I should be able to work on the flyer and have it ready for distribution next week. I am excited about this series and expect it to be a big success.

The elevator passed its inspection this week and EMC finally came for the LED lighting walk-through. The fixture in the kitchen area was easily repaired. They did not come with the bulbs needed for the lights over the big table and the lights on the stairs, but they intend to return with them tomorrow. I had hoped to find takers for the fluorescent lights we no longer need, but was unsuccessful. They took these tubes to be recycled. Once they receive the certificate of recycling, they will send the warranty booklet. The tubes and ballasts have a 5 year warranty and the light bulbs they will be bringing tomorrow have a 3 year warranty. However, they say that we should not have to replace anything for many, many years.

Sincerely,
